Raising the bar: creating a better tomorrow

We would cordially like to invite you to join us on the 15th October 2017 at the Carlton Hotel, 76 Bras Basah Road, Singapore for a unique and informative wound care conference.

Wounds International and URGO Medical are collaborating to produce this 1-day conference entitled ‘Raising the bar – creating a better tomorrow’. We would like to invite you to join us for the event.

Our aim for the day is to provide clinicians from around Asia with an exceptional opportunity to gain insight and best practice recommendations from a faculty of local wound care specialists, supported by key international opinion leaders who will bring further evidence and perspectives from around the world.

The morning of the conference will begin looking at real-world evidence identifying the effect that patients with wounds have on healthcare systems. This will be followed by sessions looking at how the implementation of robust evidence-based protocols can make a positive impact on service-delivery and patient outcomes; how the adoption of readily-available international guidance can work locally; how RCT evidence including the recently-published EUREKA study can guide practice and how industry can actually enhance our understanding of wound care in general.

The afternoon sessions will start to approach more clinically-led themes including: effective care of diabetic foot through use of a multi-disciplinary team; successful strategies for the prevention and management of pressure injury; and evidence-based management of leg ulcers.

This conference is free to attend, and early booking is essential as delegate numbers are limited. Content will be relevant for all healthcare professionals responsible for the care of the wounds including: Consultants, Specialist nurses, Link nurses & Registered nurses in wound care, plastic surgery, vascular and general surgery, internal medicine, orthopaedics, podiatry and physical therapists, general & family practitioners and other other allied health care professionals with an interest in wound care.

If you could confirm your availability to Lisa Conte, Regional Marketing Manager, Asia-Pacific & Middle East, URGO Medical at l.conte@intl.urgo.com or call her in Singapore on +65 85 22 23 92.

Please note: the delegate fee is $275 – a limited number of free delegate places are available, successful applicants will be notified by email.
